The Mysteries and Miseries of Grant's Call upon the Queen.

We ask the immediate attention of the State Department to a most unpleasant criss-cross of cable statements, which, if not be speedily unraveled, threatens to make of non-effect the entente cordiale so skillfully established by the efforts of Minister Pierrepont between the British Empire and the American Republic. It is necessary that the country should know for certain within twenty-four hours whether Her Majesty the Queen of Great Britain, Empress of India, did or did not receive Mr. and Mrs. Grant at the foot of the staircase of Windsor Castle. The Associated Press on Wednesday assured us that she did. A special cable dispatch to the "Herald" assured us, yesterday, that she did not. Nor only this. The discrepancy is wider, and full of "miching mallecho." The "Herald" distinctly implies not only that the Queen failed to treat Mr. and Mrs. Grant as she would have treated any casual European ex-King and ex-Queen, but that she was very much vexed at their coming to Windsor. In fact, it implies that she must have put everybody under her orders up to snubbing her American visitors, and making things as disagreeable to them as possible. The thing began at Paddington Station, where, as we are informed, "although some mention of the intended visit had been made, strange to say, the Americans walked into the central waiting-room, on the southwestern front of the station, without being recognized." Obviously there was no brass band in waiting, nor even so much as one small boy to cry "hooray!" Minister Pierrepont, whose hand is visible throughout this masterly communication, tries to smooth over this part of the business by saying that "the Americans were consequently spared the trouble of acknowledging a demonstration which would undoubtedly have been made." This is Spartan, but the secret anguish pierces through this secret diplomatic affectation of indifference. When they reached Windsor it was worse. "Sir Thomas Biddulph had been delegated to receive General Grant at the Windsor Station, but he was not punctual, and the arrival was, therefore, unceremonious." Here again comes in the diplomatic hand. We feel that there was no royal four-in-hand waiting, and the dreadful certainty strikes home upon the mind that the "Americans" must have gone up from the station to the Castle—in a cab! At the Castle the climax of ignominy was capped. "It was intimated" that the Americans had come down too soon, like the man in the moon who prematurely descended "to inquire the way to Norwich," and "the Queen was not there to receive them." Who did receive them we are not plainly told. Certainly not Sir Thomas Biddulph, of whom we never hear again until he craftily creeps in at dinner-time, when he appears to have been raised to the peerage as "Lord Biddulph," doubtless as a reward for his insolence to the "Americans." The "Herald" dispatch intimates that it was "the Chamberlain" who welcomed the representatives of the great Republic. But this is very vague, and we suspect, shuddering as we write, that it was really "the chambermaid." This is a sickening suspicion; but who can resist it when he goes on to read that this personage took the "Americans" up-stairs to look out of the windows, and there "explained" to them the phenomenon of the extensive view which they would have seen had the weather been clear, by stating "that the tower stands upon the summit of a hill." Chamberlains are not uncommonly selected from among the senior wranglers of the two universities; but we doubt if any Chamberlaine ever got quite down to this level.

Finally, after three hours spent in this intellectual company, "a commotion was observed among the guards below, and in a few seconds the royal equipage was seen to enter the court-yard and the Queen alighted. Her Majesty looked sun-burned and somewhat ill-humored."

From that smiling descent to the foot of the staircase to this dreadful picture what a gulf stretches. Are we not right in saying that the Government of the United States ought at once to call upon Minister Pierrepont for a full, true and particular account of this whole affair, to be authenticated by his own name and signature? As things now stand it is in a most uncomfortable condition, worse even than that of poor Mrs. Grant at the Pierrepont reception, whose dresses has been so pulled and hauled at by contending literary milliners that she has been left, so to speak, without a rag to cover her.—N. Y. World, June 29th.

[Per Steamer North Pacific.]

A correspondent in Egypt writes:—"A line of laughing girls, each bearing on her head an enormous earthen jar, causes you to stand aside and make way for them on the narrow path. They draw their hoods across their faces as they pass, but gaze at you with unfeigned interest out of one black eye. Very often the extemporized veil drops and reveals a brown but not always ugly face, set off with necklaces and earrings of colored beads, and tattoed on chin and forehead. A smiling mouth and rows of magnificent white teeth redeem the otherwise expressionless countenance, and your salute is returned politely without any disturbance of the well-balanced jaw."

Mr. Barry Sullivan, the actor, has recently undergone a singular operation connected with an eyelash. It will be remembered that at Drury Lane theatre McDuff's sword accidentally struck him in the eye, causing an abrupt termination of his engagement and his retirement for some weeks. In the end he left the doctor's hands cured, as was believed, but ever since he has been troubled with a curious affection of the eye. Having consulted an oculist the conclusion was arrived at that there must be something in the eyeball itself. Barry Sullivan consented to undergo the necessary operation for testing this theory. His eyeball was cut open, and from it there was taken an eyelash, which had been thrust in at the point of the sword.

A tragedy occurred the other day on the Seine. Two gentlemen and a lady, after ordering dinner, got into a boat and appeared to have allowed it to drift down the stream. On nearing the bridge of Neuilly it suddenly whirled round, struck one of the buttresses, broke in two and went to the bottom. One of the gentlemen, who could not swim, managed to save himself by catching hold of an oar; the lady sank, and the other gentleman (who was about to be married to her) dived and brought her, as he thought at first, safe to shore. Unfortunately he had brought up the body of another woman, which had evidently been some days in the water. The corpse of his fiancee was not recovered till some hours after.

Has removed to Broughton street opposite the City Chambers. Philip James, M. D., Extracts Polypus and Cancer without the use of the knife when taken in time. Rheumatism cured in one hour without pain. He is now using the Electric Magnetic Machine with good effect in many diseases of Rheumatic, Palsy or Paralysis and Fits.

MRS. JAMES, Midwife of long experience and successful practice in this city, is open to engagement with ladies to attend them at their home, or they can be accommodated at her residence.

N. B.—Special attention given to all diseases of women and children.

PIANOFORTES.—A few choice instruments by Chappell & Co. for sale very cheap for cash; or will be rented on moderate terms, the Pianofortes to become the hirer's own property after payment of a stipulated number of months' rent. The "Chappell" Pianofortes are unequalled for fine finish, elasticity of touch and brilliancy of tone, and possess in a marked degree the quality "durability." Opportunity is now afforded parties requiring Pianofortes to obtain first-class instruments on most favorable terms. Also, for sale cheap one Alexandre Harmonium, seven stops.

A. B. GRAY & Co., Victoria,
Sole Agents for B C.

N B.—Parties at a distance will, on application, be furnished with descriptive price lists.

OLD CHICORY is almost a thing of the past. Finlayson's Coffee presides over the present. It has now superseded what used to be claimed as "superior to and other manufactured on this coast," and will soon be found on every well-furnished table in the Province. Prepared at his premises on Fort street, and sold by all the principal dealers.

JAMES BAY.

The inhabitants of James Bay have a first-class grievance. They were promised the extension of the waterpipes to their doors. On the faith of that promise they gave the new loan bylaw a warm support. Now they learn to their deep disappointment that the sum of money produced from that loan is insufficient to effect all the improvements contemplated, and that they will have to await a "more convenient season" before the promise can be kept. In seeking authority for the loan the City Corporation must have had some data on which to base their calculations. Who prepared that data? And if the figures were incorrect, who is responsible? Not the inhabitants of James Bay. If a blunder has been made by the Council why should James Bay be made to suffer vicariously for the mistakes of other men? The water of Elk Lake may be none the best. It may be unfit for drinking purposes before filtration; but be it ever so bad it is as good as the average well water, and is a necessary agent in the promotion of public cleanliness and the extinction of fires. The inhabitants of James Bay have a claim that should be considered. For a period exceeding two years people residing in other parts of the Corporate limits have enjoyed a water supply. James Bay, although a large contributor to the Civic revenue, has been denied that boon. The reasons given two years ago for withholding the supply was that the funds were insufficient. That was a good and valid reason and was accepted as such. But a subsequent loan having been effected especially for the purpose of extending the supply, James Bay has a right to demand consideration of her claims and equitable treatment at the hands of the City Fathers. We hope she will press for both.

Great Britain Declares War Against Russia!

The for-some-time-expected declaration of war by Great Britain against Russia is announced. The news comes from the Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph lines at Portland to Mr. McMicking, Superintendent of the British Columbia lines, who received the telegram while at Port Townsend yesterday morning and telegraphed it from Lopez Island to Victoria. A subsequent dispatch to Premier Elliott (not official, however) confirmed the first information.

The news will take no one by surprise. Events have been shaping themselves in the direction of war for some months. It has all along been difficult to understand how Great Britain could refrain from declaring war should the Russians cross the Balkans. The recent successes of the Muscovite arms show the hollowness of the Turkish system of defence in Europe. A few well-directed blows and the Ottoman armies were crushed like so many eggs beneath the feet of an elephant. With naught between the Russians and Constantinople save a demoralized and flying army, the capture of Constantinople became a mere question of time—and a very short time, too. The hopes excited by the brilliant successes of Mukhtar Pasha in Asia were dissipated by the terrible reverses of Abdul Kerim in Europe; and British intervention became necessary for the protection of her Indian communications, which the Russian conquest of Turkey would threaten. The Imperial Government has not hesitated to take the supreme step when the emergency became apparent; and they will be sustained by the wealth and power of the nation. That Great Britain will have at least one ally—Austria—is evident from recent dispatches. Austria cannot exist with the Danube in Russia's possession, and her immense and splendidly-equipped armies will soon cross Servia and attack the Russians in the rear. The British fleet are doubtless already in the Black Sea, and troops will be thrown into Adrianople and other threatened points from Malta and England. The war will be a bloody and destructive one; let us hope that it will not be a long war.

Of course, in considering the outbreak of hostilities with Russia, British Columbians will be most concerned as to their own position. There is no denying that the Province is not in a position to withstand an assault from one or two ironclads or monitors. We believe there is not an armored British war ship in the Pacific. What the Russians may have in their Asiatic ports we have not the means of knowing. The British have a fleet at China from which a few ships will probably be detached for the protection of Esquimalt as well as to cruise in the Northern Pacific for the protection of British shipping. The flagship Shah must be near at hand, and upon Admiral DeHorsey's arrival energetic steps will doubtless be taken to place both Victoria and Esquimalt in a state of defence. Since war has been declared the Shah can remain only 24 hours at San Francisco (should she touch at that port) and may arrive at any moment at Esquimalt. No doubt a land force of volunteers will be organized and drilled in anticipation of any emergency, and British Columbians will not be backward in tendering their services for defensive purposes.

DULL TIMES AT SEATTLE.

Seattle is experiencing dull times. The Intelligencer, of that town, generally disposed to look on the bright side of matters, admits that there has been a great falling off in business, a general "scarcity of money everywhere upon the Sound," and in Seattle "a standstill in the matter of building and improving, which heretofore were so vigorously carried on and gave employment to so many artizans, who have been compelled since to go elsewhere." The Intelligencer attributes the dullness to stringent money markets in the Atlantic States and California, and continues:

"Until recently, Seattle was the liveliest town upon the coast—we do not admit now that it is the dullest, for its leading merchants are having a good trade—and we congratulate ourselves upon the steady progress of its growth and prosperity, while most other towns were at a standstill; and when we take into consideration that the past year has been a very trying one upon the business men of California and its industrial classes, it is really a matter of surprise, from our close relations or rather dependence upon them, that we have not before this experienced still worse effects than we have done from the general prostration there."

The Intelligencer thinks, however, that as soon as business revives elsewhere Seattle trade will take another start and sympathize in the onward movement.

HOW ENGLAND CONQUERS TRADE.

Inferior nations, says the New York Graphic, are now frequently commercially captured. There is a more subtle yet lasting kind of seizure and occupation than that of arms. Of this Mexico and Central America serve as an example. British and German mercantile interests now predominate there. While American energy has spent itself in a series of filibustering expeditions, the English and German merchants have crept stealthily in, and, backed by the power and moral force of their respective countries, made for themselves permanent footholds. Such large mercantile establishments are of far more importance and profit than captured forts or garrisoned towns. American mercantile apathy has too much neglected these countries at our doors. English activity and aptness in this particular are wonderful to contemplate. When England finds a tribe of savages, the first study is, "What do they want?" Rum? She sends it. Opium? She sends it, and forces a government to receive it. Cloths? She manufactures the peculiar stuffs of India, worn only by princes, better and cheaper than can be done in Hindostan. Idols? She will carve wooden gods by the thousand. Have the barbarians no money to pay for these things? She will, in exchange, take furs, ivory, tea, coffee, gums, shells, woods, dyes, anything, everything, carry them to her own bustling little island, work them up into some shape, and send them away again to sell to some other people. She makes nations pay one toll for carrying the raw product to her own shore, and another for carrying them back again when wrought into other forms. It is this, aided by agents at home and abroad trained to direct these numerous channels of trade toward the parent isle, that keeps the currents of gold flowing toward England as toward a vast reservoir, and makes her the treasure house of nations.

THE SYNOD SERMON.

The sermon of Archdeacon Wright before the Synod has given rise to a discussion through our columns as to certain remarks that occurred in the sermon respecting Bishop Cridge and his status. The letters have excited much interest amongst all classes of readers of THE COLONIST, and the "canonical law" (as one correspondent puts it) promises to be pretty well sifted and explained before the controversy blows over. We would remind present or intending correspondents of two rules that must be observed. The first requirement is that personalities be avoided. We have already declined to print two letters disgracefully personal in tone. The second rule is brevity. Ideas must be compressed, condensed, boiled down to insure insertion. Ten persons will stop to read a short article where one will not look at a long one.

THE FIGHT WITH THE HUASCAR.

Why the British Interfered.

A partial explanation of Admiral De Horsey's interference in one of the numerous "family quarrels" for which Peru is famous is given by an American correspondent. It seems that some of the British Mercantile houses in Lima had asked that steps should be taken to look after the Huascar in the south, it having been reported that this vessel had committed some depredations on British interests, stopping the royal mail steamers, and taking forcible possession of a quantity of coal from on board an English ship in Pisagua. It afterwards transpired that no such outrages had been perpetrated—that the coal belonged to a Peruvian citizen, who gladly accepted the price offered by the rebels and that when the mail steamer was boarded, and two Peruvian officers extricated therefrom, the occurrence took place in a Peruvian port, whence the local authorities had fled, and the rebels were in unquestioned possession. However, Admiral De Horsey was probably unaware of these circumstances, and, in compliance with the desires of his countrymen in Lima, proceeded south to look after the ram. A note was sent by the Admiral to Pierola, and received by the latter in Cobija about the 23rd of May in which the Huascar is threatened with capture in case of interference with British interests, or retaining on board British subjects against their own volition. On the receipt of this document Pierola called on deck the English engineers and firemen belonging to the ship, explained the matter to them, and offered them their liberty. This was accepted by the engineers who were placed on shore, paid extra wages, and their passage secured in the mail steamer to Callao. The commander of the Huascar replied to the note of Admiral De Horsey, asserting that no acts inimical to English interests had been practised, and that in case of necessity the Huascar was perfectly competent to maintain the honor of her flag.

It must be borne in mind this is from an American source. The officers of the Shah give, in substance, the following account of events after the battle:—

After the engagement and the surrender of the Huascar to the Government, the Shah and Amethyst visited Iquique and held some intercourse with the Peruvian fleet which still remained at that port. The reason stated for not capturing the Huascar is that the Shah and Amethyst could not follow her into the shoal water near the shore. Neither of the English ships were injured during the combat. The Huascar was hit no less than seventy times during the engagement. The handling and fighting of the rebel ram was admirable. The Shah would have entered Callao Bay on her way north, but was met by a steamer with the British Consul on board outside the harbor and advised to keep on her voyage, and thereby avoid any further collision with the Peruvians, who, he said, were prepared to give her a hot reception in case she entered into any of their ports.

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER TRIP.

The undersigned are in a position to offer to the public an opportunity to enjoy one of the most delightful trips on the Pacific Coast, viz: a trip from Victoria to the head of Lake Shuswap.

The time to be occupied will be 15 days, the distance traveled 1000 miles; and the cost will not exceed $87 50 per person, which includes meals and cabin accommodation on the steamer "Marten" for the space of 5 or 6 days.

Special Coaches, much more comfortable than the ordinary stage coach, will leave Yale for Savona Ferry, traveling only by daylight, and reaching the latter point on the second evening, where the "Marten" will be in readiness to take the party forward. This steamer will be fitted out especially for the trip. She is a large, roomy boat, has every appliance required by law for the safety of passengers and carries certificates of inspection.

At Spallumcheen the steamer will lay over for the convenience of the party, enabling them to view the beautiful scenery of that interesting neighborhood.

We have no hesitation in asserting that a more pleasurable trip than that now proposed could not be devised in any country. The scenery of each day blending all that is grand and picturesque, and which has repeatedly drawn from tourists expressions of the warmest admiration, is ever varying, offering in succession, to those who have a taste for the beautiful in nature, a panoramic view of ocean, river, lake and mountain such as is seldom witnessed.

BIRTHS.

On the 19th May, 1877, at the residence of A. E. Donnelly, Esq., San Jose de Guatemala, Central America, the wife of Capt. Russell, of the steamer Salvador, of a daughter.

Esquimalt Public School.

At the adjourned annual school meeting held on the 9th instant, present Messrs. Arthur, Doran and Brooks, trustees, Messrs McCarthy, Innes, Wilby, McGirr, Waterhouse and Dunstan.

J. H. Innes having been elected Chairman and W. H. Brooks Secretary, the minutes of the previous meeting having been read and confirmed. Mr. Arthur reported that he had been in communication with the Superintendant of Education relative to the liabilities of the school up to date, amounting to $91, and he had been promised a remittance by that officer by Saturday the 7th instant, which as yet had not been received.

Moved by Mr. Wilby, that a vote of censure be recorded because of the dilatory manner in which the school funds placed by the government at the disposal of the Superintendent of Education are apparently disbursed by that officer, which has resulted in the non-payment of the incidental exposes incurred by the trustees on behalf of the school to 30th June last, by which they have personally incurred a debt to the amount of $91.

Seconded by Mr. Doran and carried.

In reply to a question from the chair Mr. Arthur stated that Mr. Jessop had only visited the school once during the past twelve months.

Moved by Mr. Waterhouse, that this meeting views with regret the manifest indifference evinced by the Superintendant of Education in respect to the school in question, inasmuch that no public lecture has been given by him during the past year at Esquimalt in accordance with his printed instructions; that they observe that only one visit was paid by him to the school during the past twelve months, and that he has not done all that laid in his power to secure the sound education of the young in this particular locality.

Seconded by Mr. Doran and carried.

Moved by Mr. McGirr, that the trustees should impress upon the teacher the necessity of the younger children receiving more special attention and assistance in their studies and exercises and that it is considered that this point has not been sufficiently attended to.

Seconded by Mr. Doran and carried.

Mr. Doran expressed his desire to resign; but at the unanimous desire of the meeting consented to retain office.

A vote of thanks was passed to the trustess for their valuable services in connection with the school.

A vote of thanks having been unanimously carried for the services rendered by the Chairman and Secretary the proceedings terminated.

County Court.

[Before Hon. A. F. Pemberton.]

TUESDAY, July 24th.

A. Welling vs. Wm. Cameron.—This case came up on the 17th of July last when the plaintiff being sworn, stated that, on the 17th of March last Mr. King, proprietor of the Mousquetaires Saloon, asked him to assist him in putting out persons in the house as it was time to close up. The defendant was one of them, after having closed the saloon plaintiff went round to the St. Nicholas Hotel and was about to take a chair when he heard the defendant say, "that is the fellow, I'll be after you, you son-of-a-b——," and rushed at the plaintiff striking him twice in the eye, the second time he reeled and did not know what happened, when he came to his senses White, the bar-keeper, asked him to leave the house; some one was holding Cameron. When working the water runs out of his eye and almost blinds him, the other eye is very weak. He had consulted Drs. Davie, Ash and Helmcken. Did not know that he ever spoke to the defendant before.

Dr. Davie being called said the plaintiff had been under his treatment in March last, he was suffering from wound of the eye-ball, apparently cut by a blunt instrument, he attended him for about six weeks and had seen him off and on ever since, the sight of the eye is gone, and he runs a risk of losing the other unless the other eye be taken out. He had advised the plaintiff to see Drs. Helmcken and Ash and they had concurred with him that he had lost the sight of one eye.

The case was then adjourned till yesterday, when the defendant not appearing the Court awarded a verdict of $100 to the plaintiff and costs.

Esquimalt Regatta Surplus.

Yesterday, at a meeting of the General Committee of the late Coronation Day Regatta, Mr. C. T. Dupont in the Chair, Captain Hanmer, H.M.S. Daring, moved that the balance in hand of the Regatta funds, amounting to $77, should be devoted to the relief of the sufferers by the fire at St. John, N.B.

Seconded by Mr. J. H. Innes.

Captain Harris, H.M.S. Rocket, moved as an amendment that the balance should be reserved for the next regatta at Esquimalt, observing that he had canvassed in Victoria and there was a strong feeling against the money being appropriated to any other object than that for which it was subscribed.

Seconded by Dr. Coates, R.N.

Mr. Fisher, M.P.P., pointed out that it was quite competent for the Committee to appropriate the balance as they thought best, inasmuch as all the subscribers themselves could not be personally canvassed, and that the regatta for which the fund was subscribed had taken place.

Col. Houghton, D.A.G., opposed giving the balance to the St. John sufferers.

Several gentlemen expressed their sympathy for St. John, and though the sum was not any great amount it would show their good feeling for the suffering brethren.

The following voted for Captain Harris' amendment:—Capt. Harris, R. N., Col. Houghton, D.A.G., W. Bonnett, C.E., J. Hannan, C. E. Dawson, C.E., H. E. Wilby, Dr. Coates, R. N., T. Laughton, Lieut. Henderson, R N., Lieut. Millet, R. N., Sub.-Lieut. Bailey, R.N., P. Leech.

The following voted for Capt. Hammer's motion to give the money to St. John, N.B.—Capt. Hanmer, R.N., J. H. Innes, C. E. Pooley, W. Fisher, M.P.P., T. S. Dobbin, K. McKenzie.

OFFICIALS CHARGED WITH CONSPIRACY. At the Bow street Police Court, on June 13, Chief Inspectors Druscovitch, Mick lejohn and Palmer, the best known officers of the Scotland Yard detective force, and a solicitor named Froggatt, were arraigned at the instance of the Treasury to-day, accused of conspiracy to defeat the ends of justice in a celebrated confidence case, in which a number of betting men were convicted of defrauding the Countess de Goncourt of $50,000. Poland on behalf of the Treasury charged the defendants with conspiracy, and also with being accessories after the fact to certain felonies committed in the Goncourt affair. Poland said he feared the case would be fully made out against the accused. Froggatt was admitted to bail in $2500, but bail was refused in the case of the officers.

WESTMINSTER RIFLES—Province of British Columbia—No. 1 Company of Rifles, New Westmenster, having become disorganized, a new rifle company to replace that corps at New Westminster, to be styled "The New Westminster Company," is authorized from the 24th April last, and the following officers appointed thereto, appointments to date also from 24th April:—To be Captain, Lieut. Adolphus Peele, from late No. 1 Company of Rifles, New Westminster; to be Lieut., Ensign Louis Francis Bonson, formerly of the Royal Artillery, from late No. 1 Company of Rifles, New Westminster; to be Ensign, Sergeant Adam Jackson.—Dom. Gov. Gazette.

ESQUIMALT REGATTA FUND.—We are sorry to note the refusal of the Esquimalt Regatta Committee to contribute the small balance in their hands to the relief of the sufferers by the fire at St. John, N.B. At a time like the present, when thousands of fellow-beings, who before the fire were in affluent circumstances, are dependent on public charity for the merest necessaries, the regatta balance though small would have blessed those who received and doubly blessed those who gave. Captain Hanmer's resolution should have been adopted.

"FROM THE ATLANTIC TO THE PACIFIC." Mr. John W. Hall, late of this city, who is now in Burnley, England, on the 1st of May, read an essay at the Enon Young Men's Elocution Class, describing the journey from Victoria to England. The essay is well put together; but we are sorry that our young fellowcitizen did not find room for a few remarks on the glorious climate, the beautiful scenery, the rich mines, the incomparable fisheries, the illimitable forests, and the fertile soil of the Pacific Province. We should never hide our light under a bushel—if it is worth exhibiting.

PETITION.—A petition to the Mayor and Council is being numerously signed asking that honorable body to provide a water supply for residents on the south side of James Bay.

THE ship Don Nicholas, Captain Gardiner, anchored in Royal Roads at 10 p. m. on Monday last. Captain Gardiner reports the ships Germanic, Leota, Marmion and Grace Darling bound this way.

STONE THROWING.—On Monday evening Ah Quhi, a Chinaman, while passing along Pioneer street, near St. John's Church, received a very severe cut over the eye by a stone thrown by one of four young boys living near there. This is the second case, within a week, in which persons have been injured, one little girl being cut on the eyelid. Stone-throwing is now getting a most serious nuisance in the town, and unless something be done to stop it, scarcely anyone will be able to walk along our streets in safety.

NEW ENCAMPMENT I.O.O F.—W. D. D. Grand Sire J. S. Drummond went to New Westminster yesterday on board the Enterprise, accompanied by P. C. P. Gowen to establish Encampment I.O O.F. No. 2 in that city. News of the creation of several patriarchs, etc., may be expected by return boat.

FREE MASONS' HALL.—The Masonic Lodges have purchased two full lots on Douglas street opposite St. John's Church, with the intention of erecting thereon a new hall.

THE RUSSIANS COMING!—Two Russian ships are on the way to Burrard Inlet to load with lumber. What shall we do with them?

THE ship Grace Darling, Capt Gilmore, anchored in Royal Roads last evening 14 days from San Francisco and will proceed to Nanaimo for coal.

THE steamer Alexander left yesterday afternoon with the ship Don Nicholas in tow for Nanaimo.

The Challenge Accepted.

EDITOR COLONIST:—I am desirous of taking up Archdeacon Wright's bet; but object to his referees. It is obvious that the Archbishops and Bishops of England, being interested parties, cannot be the judges; in fact, they are barred by the rules of the Jockey Club.

If the Archdeacon is willing to accept the decision of the Pope or any Cardinal or Bishop of the Church of Rome, I will give him odds that Lord George, D.V., etc., and Bishop Cridge stand exactly on the same footing.

The money is up at any time.

LAYMAN No. 2.

N. B.—I enclose my card.

'Cridge vs. Wright.'

EDITOR COLONIST.—Under the heading above quoted a correspondent in the "Standard" of Monday's date, who signs himself "A Layman of the Church of England," enters a solemn protest against the "common-place correspondence" now going on in THE COLONIST as a result of Archdeacon Wright's ill-advised sermon delivered in Christ Church during the recent meeting of the Anglican Synod. If the discussion of the arrogant pretensions and priestly assumptions of Archdeacon Wright and his High Church conferres result to "the grievous injury of the church they represent," they have only themselves to blame, and I quite agree with "A Layman of the Church of England" that they might employ their time to much better advantage by attending to the spiritual wants of their flocks than by attempting to exalt their priestly importance at the expense of their ministerial brethren of other denominations, who have certainly been no less, but very much more, successful than themselves in promoting the cause of Christianity among the people. I have no intention of appearing as a champion or defender of Bishop Cridge in the controversy which has been provoked by Archdeacon Wright, as that gentleman is well qualified to defend both himself and the church he represents; but would simply observe that if Archdeacon Wright and his Anglo-Catholic friends would but act upon the advice of "A Layman of the Church of England," and seek "to learn a lesson from the priests of that grand old church of of Rome, whose influence," he says, "is growing in our midst," I think the result would be to take the conceit out of them as "successors of the apostles" in a direct, unbroken line, and give them to understand that they have no more a legitimate claim to that distinction than Brigham Young, the High Priest of the Church of Latter Day Saints. The last paragraph of "A Layman's" letter is a literary curiosity in its way. We are told that there are to-day in Victoria "examples of nonconformist divines, favored with no gifts of eloquence or culture who yet, with thoughtful men, command a respect not generally accorded to the ministers of the Church of England and the Reformed Church." Whether the above was intended as a compliment or an insult to the "nonconformist" (whatever that word may signify in British Columbia) divines of this city, we confess we are at a loss to determine. It will be news to the members of the Church of Scotland, the First Presbyterian Church, and the Methodist Church, of Victoria, who I presume the writer refers to, and not the priests of the "grand old Church of Rome," to learn that their respective pastors possess neither the gift of eloquence nor culture. It seems somewhat strange that "A Layman of the Church of England" should have been the first to discover that fact. But is it a fact? I have no hesitation in answering, No! They are all gentlemen of high classical attainments, and as for their eloquence, the best proof of that is to be found in the large congregations that statedly wait upon their ministry. It is true that they command the love and respect of their people, as well as of "thoughtful men" beyond the pale of their own churches. Did they, however, spend their time in useless wrangling about matters of dress and "holy mysteries," instead of caring for the souls of those committed to their pastoral oversight, it would not long be truthfully said of them that they "command a respect not generally accorded to the ministers of the Church of England." O. CROMWELL.

The Archdeacon's Last Position Challenged by Bishop Cridge.

EDITOR COLONIST:—"The beginning of strife," we read, "is as when one letteth out water." The present controversy seems like it. The Archdeacon speaks of my "long letter." But, who, my brother, compelled me? I will, however, endeavor, on "my part," to narrow the contention to the issues of truth. And I trust that my beloved brethren of the Church of England, whether Synodical or Reformed, will bear this public agitation for the good that must come of bringing a claim, which alone divides among brethren, to light. If I am long, it will not be forgotten, I trust, that a short question sometimes requires a long answer. I only ask that the whole may be read and examined, and judged only according to its truth. I should not have taken up the Archdeacon's reply to "Layman," only that its main arguments really belong to me. Of the three outside issues on which I proposed to the Archdeacon to try the Synod's power of putting "an end to controversies," he takes up the "orders of the Reformed Church only. Whether conscious of weakness on the part of the Synod or not, he shifts the infallible settlement to the shoulders of the Bishops. I accept the test, though the Archdeacon's way of putting it (to speak only of my private judgment) seems to have somewhat of a simonical complexion about it. Let me draw the Archdeacon back to the real question,—the apostolical succession. First let me observe,—as I wish not to spend words in vain, for my own sake and for your readers' sake,—that the Archdeacon has not exhibited his position in its full strength. Before I do it for him, let me further observe that in this appeal he assumes the thing which was to be proved; for how can the Bishops put an end to the controversy except as successors of the apostles? So that whatever the result of this appeal may be, the Archdeacon is just where he was before; he has still to prove THAT. But perhaps he will say that he speaks only as a "clergyman of the Church of England. "Well, the real judges and masters of the Church—her most gracious majesty and the parliament—have thrown a little discredit upon the Archdeacon's position by deposing the Bishops from the office of judging rather than promoting them to it. And further; that I may clear everything as I go, and then come to my argument, I might hold the archdeacon to his first court, which, he says, is derived from the apostles, viz.: a mixed council of ecclesiastics and laymen, and as he has (wisely, I think, and none too soon) cast the local Synod overboard, require that he should make the test proposed to "Layman" commensurate with the rule which he declares to be apostolic, and extend the appeal to lay representatives of the whole church; the "Pan-Anglican" church, I mean—as well as to the Bishops. The Archdeacon must, (to speak again only my private judgment) I think, be very sanguine if he expects his proposition to be as safe in this case as in the other. And then might it not appear, upon the application of that rare expedient of "concurrent jurisdiction," that the controversy of the apostolic succession could never be "put an end to," at all?

Pending the Archdeacon's reply, I proceed, according to promise, to give his present test all the strength of which it is susceptible. It were a light thing, my brother, to require the Bishops to decide this question, individually, (to say nothing of a mode of suffrage novel and unique, and hardly ecclesiastical) apart from counsel with their brethren. The "Pan-Anglican" council is to meet, if I mistake not, next year. Let this question be laid before that body.

But, for the purpose of my argument, it will not be necessary to wait for the decision. Let us suppose it given in your favor. In my first letter I asked, with regard to the decisions of the Synod, "what, when framed, will you do with them? I say so with regard to this. If you are at any loss, permit me, as a brother "clergyman of the Church of England," who glories in her faith notwithstanding her afflictions to help you. The 27th article tells you what to do with the assumed decision. It runs as follows: "General councils may not be gathered together without the commandment and will of princes."

Permit me here, my brother, to turn aside for a moment to ask whether the Synod, for which you claim a virtual infallibility and supreme authority, has been so gathered together? And if not, and you still call yourselves the Church of England, are you not (pardon me,—I only ask the question) by law, ipso facto excommunicate?

The article proceeds—"And when they be gathered together (forasmuch as they be an assembly of men whereof all be not governed with the spirit and word of God) they may err, and sometimes have erred, even in things pertaining unto God." The article then, having denied infallibility to councils, next proceeds to declare what we must do with their decisions. "Wherefore things ordained by them as necessary to salvation have neither strength nor authority unless it may be declared that they be taken out of holy scripture." You see, brother, (unless I am blind) how our Church appeals from councils to the holy scriptures, and fairly teaches that no council on earth, but only the word of God, is binding on the conscience. And so we come back to what I said, in my first letter, out of holy scripture, that we must every one us "give account of himself to God."—(St. Paul to the Romans.)

I have not yet given the Archdeacon's position (and my argument) all the strength which it admits of. Why, my brother, limit your appeal to the "pan-Anglican" Bishops? Why pass by the Romish? Are they not successors of the Apostles too? You may with still greater confidence expect a favorable answer from them against the orders of the Reformed Church. But what will you do with it when it comes? What will become of the vocation of my "brother priest" himself.

Now I come, my dear Archdeacon, to your one quotation (the only authority, whatever, inferentially, may be its weight, which I find in your letter) upon the validity of the orders and of the episcopal acts of Bishop Cummins. It is enough for my purpose.

David Cummins, a man of irreproachable character, sound divinity, and Christian eloquence—for, I believe, nearly thirty years a presbyter, and for some time a bishop, of the Protestant Episcopal Church—went forth from that church not to create a schism, but to escape from it; not to break unity, but to seek it. He did no go forth till he deemed the restoration of unity in that church hopeless. He went forth voluntarily, when all would have bade him stay, leaving all the emoluments of his office behind him. But he went forth, a "Bishop of the Church of God;" if that church be itself a branch of the same.

Now the Archdeacon rests his proof of the invalidity of the episcopal acts of Bishop Cummins on the fact that he was deposed from his office on the 24th June, 1874. I reply that he consecrated the first Bishop on the 14th December, 1873, six months before; the Reformed Church having been fully organized on December 2nd, 1873; I thank the Archdeacon for affording me the opportunity of shewing that, whatever are the orders of the Church of the Archbishop of Canterbury, such are the orders of the Reformed Episcopal Church.

But who, sir, can depose "from the Church of God?" I may have more to say on this point, if the Archdeacon does not yet see it.

I have now, sir,—briefly enough for the variegated positions assumed by the Archdeacon.—examined the grounds on which the Archdeacon attacks the order of the Reformed Church, and, calls the dead Bishop names!—at least speaks of him as "a deluded disturber of unity."

I remain, dear sir,
Yours faithfully,
23d July, 1877. E. CRIDGE.
